

Low cost company to buy 10 more planes

Contributed by Carmen Fizesan
Monday, 06 July 2009

Romanian low cost company Blue Air intends to buy 10 Boeing 737 Next Generation airplanes.

Romanian low cost company Blue Air intends to buy 10 Boeing 737 Next Generation airplanes.

The investment might be over $ 1Bn, according to company's representatives.

In 2008, Blue Air has signed a contract to buy 5 planes Boeing 737, which will be delivered within the next 4 years.

The company flies to Transylvanian cities Cluj, Sibiu, and Arad from Germany, Spain, and Italy.

See also:

Vienna and Venice to get closer to Transylvania